Approach 1: Asyncio in Python

In this approach, a Lambda function orchestrates the concurrent execution of tasks using the asyncio library. The Lambda function acts as a controller, asynchronously invoking other Lambda functions or executing the image uploading concurrently. With this approach is possible to use a semaphore to avoid the overloading other services.